To Whom It May Concern,

It's my pleasure to write this letter of recommendation for Paul Welby. Over the past 18 months, I've had the opportunity to work closely with Paul in our Generative AI Center of Excellence, and I can confidently say he's been an outstanding member of our team.

Paul joined our small, tight-knit group of developers tasked with building and delivering generative AI solutions for employees all around the globe. From day one, Paul brought a unique mix of technical skill, creativity, and collaborative spirit that made a real difference.

One of Paul's most impactful contributions has been his work on developing tools and solutions specifically designed to help other developers across our company move faster and more effectively with generative AI. These tools, which he helped build and make available through our Generative AI Innovation Hub website, have become go-to resources for teams worldwide. Thanks to his efforts, what used to take days or weeks for some teams can now be done in a fraction of the time.

Paul's technical toolkit is broad and deep—he's worked with Angular, MS SQL, Postgres, FlowiseAI, Streamlit, Python, and JavaScript, and he brings a thoughtful, solutions-first approach to every project he touches. Whether he's working on front-end development, backend databases, or AI-driven interfaces, he consistently delivers quality work and does so with a positive, can-do attitude.

Just as importantly, Paul is a true team player. He communicates clearly, supports his teammates, and approaches every challenge with a collaborative mindset. In a field that moves as fast as AI does, having someone like Paul who you can count on to deliver, adapt, and bring others along is incredibly valuable.

In short, I highly recommend Paul. He's smart, dependable, and a pleasure to work with. Any team would be lucky to have him on board.

Warm regards,
